Sharpening Aptitude: Empowering through training

This session empowered students with targeted strategies and practical techniques to conquer aptitude tests encountered in interviews. Led by Mr. Sivakumar, a renowned expert in quantitative skills, the session provided invaluable insights and deconstructed the complexities of these assessments.

Key Learnings:

Understanding Aptitude Tests: The opening session shed light on the structure and purpose of various aptitude tests commonly used in interviews. Participants gained a clear understanding of the skills assessed, including numerical reasoning, logical reasoning, and data interpretation.

Analytical Concepts & Practice: Mr. Sivakumar masterfully navigated various analytical concepts relevant to aptitude tests. Participants were actively engaged in solving practice questions and uncovering hidden patterns.

Tips & Tricks for Efficiency: The workshop went beyond simply solving problems. The facilitator revealed valuable tips and tricks to optimize test-taking strategies. Time management techniques, problem-solving shortcuts, and handling anxiety were key areas addressed, equipping students with the mental agility to excel under pressure.

Interactive Discussions & Q&A: The session fostered an engaging atmosphere where students actively participated in discussions and clarified doubts. Mr. Sivakumar encouraged questions and provided personalized guidance, ensuring all participants grasped the concepts and strategies presented.

Overall Impact:

This session instilled confidence and provided students with the tools and knowledge needed to approach aptitude tests with a strategic mind-set. Participants were exposed to practical techniques, insightful tips, and valuable insights into the underlying logic of these assessments.

Campus to Corporate (Soft Skills Training) (26th February 2025) Resource Person: Ms. Sheeba Gopi

The Campus to Corporate - one-day Placement Training Programme conducted from February 26th 2025 gave a holistic knowledge of various intricacies involved in getting placed in reputed institutions and skills required to sustain and develop students in the world of corporate.

Key Learnings:

Understanding Group Dynamics: The opening session demystified the dynamics of group discussions, highlighting the importance of effective communication, active listening, and teamwork. Participants gained valuable tips on establishing a positive presence, engaging with fellow participants, and contributing constructively to the discourse.

Tackling the Prompt: Participants received practical guidance on dissecting discussion topics, brainstorming relevant points, and formulating strong arguments. Mr. Sundar Rajagopal emphasized the importance of thinking on your feet, body language and utilizing diverse perspectives to enrich the discussion.

Mock Group Discussions: Two dynamic mock sessions were conducted, covering the following topics:

Evolution of technology in finance – ‘Boon or Bane?’: This session explored the multifaceted impact of technological advancements on the financial sector, from increased efficiency to potential risks. Participants debated the ethical implications of automation and AI, while considering the benefits of enhanced accessibility and financial inclusion.

Franchisee sports or international sports - Which is better? This lively discussion examined the advantages and disadvantages of both systems. Participants delved into issues of player development, fan engagement, and economic sustainability, presenting arguments for and against each system.

Overall Impact:

This workshop equipped students with valuable skills and confidence to approach group discussions strategically and effectively. The interactive format, insightful guidance, and practical mock sessions proved immensely beneficial for participants. The workshop successfully demystified the group discussion process, empowering students to actively contribute, articulate their thoughts clearly, and collaborate effectively in team-based scenarios.
